RECESSIONAL

“The Great Gate of Kiev”

Please join us for a reception following the ceremony.

FACULTY SPEAKER

Dr. Frank Forte

Dr. Frank Forte of Raritan, Associate Professor of Mathematics, has been teaching mathematics for 28 years, the past 11 of them at RVCC. He received his Bachelor of Arts from Drew University and a Master of Science degree in Mathematics from Montclair State University. He recently completed his PhD in Mathematics Education from Montclair, and his dissertation examined the struggles that preservice elementary school teachers face while solving nonroutine math problems. It also focused on ways to help these future teachers improve their math problem-solving skills and become better educators. At RVCC, in addition to teaching mathematics courses, Dr. Forte serves as the Faculty Liaison to the Honors College and has worked with the College's Concurrent Enrollment program for the past few years.

FACULTY SPEAKER INTRODUCTION

Esmeralda Ochoa

Esmeralda Ochoa of Flemington, a first-generation college student and Communication Studies major, is graduating from the College with honors. During her time at RVCC, Esmeralda has taken on strong leadership roles across campus, founding the Business Club and serving as its president, as well as vice president of marketing for the Activities Board. She has been an EOF scholar and mentor throughout her time at RVCC and is also a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society. Esmeralda has completed over 100 hours of volunteer service at the RVCC Resource Center and Food Pantry, and her efforts earned her the President's Volunteer Service Award – Bronze Award. She is a mentee in the prestigious Sanofi Corporate Mentorship Program and has been awarded the Cento Amici Scholarship, the Zach Bunsu Memorial Scholarship, and the Gold Bond Marketing Scholarship. Esmeralda plans to transfer to Montclair State University to pursue a degree in Public Relations.

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Sam Manongsong

Sam Manongsong of Raritan, an Honors College student and Business Administration major, is graduating from the College with honors. He is also a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society and was selected to participate in the prestigious Sanofi Corporate Mentorship Program. Sam recently participated in the Gold Bond Marketing Scholarship Competition, utilizing his skills in business and marketing. Sam is actively involved on campus and in the community. He serves as vice president of marketing for the RVCC Business Club and also works on the College newspaper, RVoices, and as a sports photographer. He has been a dedicated member of his church for the past 10 years. As a first-generation college student, Sam is driven to keep growing both academically and personally. He plans to continue his education at Rutgers University to pursue a career in supply chain management within the pharmaceutical field.
